Center Bond Issue May Be On Ballot

Cost About $500,000

Residents May Be Asked To Approve New System At April 8 City Election

Possibility of a bond issue for over one-half million dollars loomed today as city officials proceeded with plans for construction of a water reservior tank and two wells in Westlake.

It was reliably learned the bond issue may be put to the voters for their consideration during the city elections, April 8.

City engineer Ed Smith is now drawing up the preliminary plans for the project which will augment Daly City's present water supply.

The reservior tank probably will go in near Skyline boulevard. The two additional wells are planned for the area adjoining the proposed Westlake park.

No reliable figures are available as to the cost of the project, but a city official noted it would be within the half-million dollar range.

The undertaking would probably be paid off by the additional revenue to the city water department. Whether this would mean a general raise in water rates, has still to be determined.

Need Great

Need for the new reservoir and well was explained today by City Administrator Dan Andersen. He said the city's present system of three tanks and six wells has not been augmented in over 40 years, with the exception of a new well on Junipero Serra boulevard last year.

"We now have a 3 million gallon supply of water. This is barely enough for present needs, and with the growth of Westlake we must tap new sources," Andersen said.

Until this week Westlake has been drawing its water from San Francisco. Now, and unless the city has trouble with water pressure, Daly City will be supplying the water from the Junipero Serra well.

(This source was tapped two months ago, but increased water pressure blew out several lines. Andersen says this has been overcome, and as far as he knows, the second try should prove successful. The Junipero Serra well water will be turned on today, he said.)

The Future

City officials assert this one well can supply Westlake's needs today, but not "tomorrow."

They also note that in case of a large fire, the city's water supply might be drained to the danger level.

When the new Westlake tank is built, and the wells drilled, it will be tapped into the city system. Thus, it will be possible for the rest of Daly City to draw from the Westlake source, if necessary.

COUNCIL MEETING SCHEDULED MONDAY

A public hearing on a second cab company for Daly City will be held at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night, January 28.

The council will consider the request of J. M. Wooten, a San Francisco veteran, to run one cab here. Presently the Hilltop Cab company is operating here without competition.

The public is invited to attend the meeting which gets underway at 8 p.m. in City Hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

Smith To Fight City's Dropping From Association

Mayor Says City Not In "Tourist Business"

Daly City is no longer a member of the California Mission Trails association, a group dedicated to encouraging tourist business in this area.

Hugh H. Smith, Jr., of the Mission Bell Motel, 6843 Mission, reported that the city has seen fit to cancel the annual $250 membership in the organization.

"In an official letter to the board of directors Mayor Paul Green stated the city was not in the 'tourist business'," Smith said.

He said he intends to fight the mayor's decision at the next regular meeting of the Daly City Merchants Association.

Mayor Green could not be reached for comment today.

Discussion

The city's decision was discussed this week at the regular meeting of the Mission Trails directors in in Paso Robles.

At the same conclave Smith was re-elected chairman of the membership committee, and appointed chairman of the nominating committee to select a candidate for the convention in Santa Monica this May.

Other business included:

The budget adopted includes billboards at strategic feeder and junction points; additional copies of the beautiful Mission Trails color-sound film; brochures to be

New Fire Station

City Needs $60,000 For Westlake Job

Where do we get the money, specifically about $60,000.

That is the one stumbling block today in the way of constructing a new fire house in Westlake.

City officials report plans for the one story structure are completed, the site is chosen, and now all that remains is to raise the funds.

The fire station will be located on the south end of Park Plaza drive, near the PG&E transformer.

Dan Andersen, city administrator, notes the city has $10,000 for purchase of the site. There is no money in the general fund for actual construction of the building.

City officials are considering two means of raising the money. One, is through a bond issue. The second, and more generally accepted, is by "lend-lease."

The "lend-lease" plan is the one put forward by a Los Angeles firm recently. Under this method the firm builds the building, leases it back to the city, and over a period of years the structure is purchased by the city.

This same plan was considered, then quietly shelved, as a means of refinancing the completion of the Community Center building.

Despite this dim outlook, city officials contacted today reported they were confident the fire house will be constructed this year.

Street Improvem'nt Project Launched

Resurfacing Plan To Be Outlined

Plans for an overall resurfacing and repairing of Daly City streets were called for at the regular closed meeting of the city council Monday evening.

Councilmen instructed City Engineer Ed Smith to lay out a project whereby all the local streets may be repaired. He will be assisted by City Administrator Dan Andersen.

Andersen said the project would take from two to three years.

Money for the job will come from the state gas tax funds, Andersen said.

COUNCIL RULES OUT "SWELL TIMES"

There will be no more "swell times" here after dark.

That is the ruling of the city council this week, and Police Chief Roland Petrocchi is prepared to carry out the order.

The council says the "Swell Time" ice cream wagons should not be allowed to ring their familiar bells on the streets after dark.

Local Man Fined $500 In Tax Scandal Case

Fined $500 by Federal District Judge Oliver J. Carter last week was James J. Donnelly, 47, public accountant who resides at 334 Lowell street.

Donnelly was held in contempt of court for refusing to produce records of all tax return he had prepared for a client. They had been suppoenaed by the Taylor Grand Jury investigating Internal Revenue Bureau scandals.

Council Hopefuls Still Cagey

Panella Says Not Interested In Race

Arnold Panella, local insurance man, today said he definitely will not be a candidate for the city council, April 8.

This scuttled a rumor strong in Daly City over the past months that Panella would be a strong contender for one of two seats open on the council.

However, other potential candidates were more definite.

Tony Ricci, 160 Peoria, an official in the beer drivers union, is strongly rumored to be interested in the council race. He could not be reached for comment, although a close friend said he was sure Ricci would be a candidate.

A definite contender is another union official, Edward Dennis, one time city councilman and president of the milk wagon drivers union.

Still to make a statement is Dr. George Gibson, until last month president of the Westlake Property Owners Association. However, local political star gazers have ruled Gibson out as a candidate.

Although Councilman Ed Mooney has said he will definitely not seek re-election, Councilman Fred Bertetta says he still has to decide. He is expected to make an announcement shortly.

In the only other city post open for the election, City Clerk B. C. Ross this week indicated he will seek re-election. He has been city clerk for nearly 30 years, and he is not expected to have any opposition.

Candidates file for office during the first week in February and have until the last of February to enter their names in the political race.

Registration Deputies Named

New Point Opens In Westlake

A new registration point for potential voters was established in the Westlake area today.

Mrs. Florence Marliave, 165 Westdale, will act as registration deputy. She will be found at the Town & Country Food Center Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 4 to 8 p.m., and all day Saturday.

Charles Becker, Westlake attorney, urged all Westlake residents

Mayor Says Move Possible

However Other Councilmen Doubtful As To When Tentative Decision Made

Mayor Paul Green announced today that a second bond issue to complete the Community Center building may be put on the ballot at the April 8 general election.

The amount of the second issue has not been set, although it probably will be around $150,000.

This announcement follows by two months the rejection of residents of a $180,000 bond issue to finish the building at Alp and Mission streets. The proposition failed to pass the two-thirds required majority by 16 per cent.

The mayor's announcement has caused some confusion among at least two other city councilmen.

Councilman A. J. Gaggero today told The Record:

"To my knowledge, we haven't discussed the subject for some time. As for putting it on the April 8 ballot, that is news to me."

He added, however, that the people should be given another opportunity to vote to complete the Center. He said he was not certain whether April 8 was the right time.

Not Discussed

The similar apparent lack of communication between the mayor's office and the other city councilmen was noted by Councilman Fred Bertetta.

"We haven't discussed the plan for the past two months. As far as I am concerned the April 8 date is a little premature."

He added that he did not believe the city had even the time to put the measure on the April 8 ballot. He pointed out this required publishing several legal notices, and holding a hearing.

"It is certain, we must finish the Community Center," Bertetta concluded. "But I do not believe the people are ready to consider the measure this early."

Councilmen Jim Kennedy and Ed Mooney could not be reached for comment.

Apparently the mayor's tentative announcement of the April 8 bond election spelled the finish to another plan of refinancing the building.

"Lend Lease" Plan

This plan was referred to as "lend lease" whereby a Los Angeles firm would finish the building, then lease it back to the city. Although no public hearing

Doelger Explains Zoning Question In Westlake

Much Confusion "For Nothing"

A recent proposed clarification of zoning areas in Westlake has caused a great amount of confusion among Westlake residents.

Referring to the recent public hearing on the matter, Henry Doelger, founder and builder of Westlake, declared:

"Three years ago the areas in question were zoned commercially. Today we are merely breaking this classification into metes and bound descriptions. In May of 1948, in a discussion with the Daly City Council regarding annexation of Westlake to Daly City, a proposed map was filed indicating the areas for zoning purposes. In March of 1949 the annexation of Westlake was approved and accepted by Daly City."

"The misunderstanding arises from the fact that the notices of the classification were mistakenly made to read, 'Notice of Proposed Zone Change,' in some locations."

"While there appears to be no question about the majority of areas so affected, one has given cause to a great deal of rumors. I speak of the section in the northwest section of Westlake between El Portal Way and Lake Merced Blvd. Understandably, a great many people whose homes are near this area, are worried about the commercial classification."

"Records will indicate that no change of zoning of this parcel is requested and merely a metes and bound description is being established. At no time since the annexation to Daly City have we ever discussed or planned any construction on this parcel of land."

Jefferson High District Asks Continuation Of 60 Cent Levy

The first election of a big election year will be held in the Jefferson high school district Tuesday, February 26, it was announced today.

At that time voters will decide whether to continue a 60 cent tax for the district.

The tax was first approved five years ago by a 1034 to 397 vote.

Present tax levy for maintenance, instruction, capital outlay and operation of the district is $1.25. This includes the 60 cents voters will be asked to approve.

"It should be remembered," Peter Markovich, chairman of the school board, said, "that the election is merely to continue the present tax rate limit.

"It does not increase present taxes."

Stanford Hannah, district superintendent, explained the recent bond issue approved by the people is for the construction of new schools, and may not be used for current expenditures.

He asserted the Jefferson district has the lowest assessed valuation per student of any high school in San Mateo county.

"And the assessed valuation does not increase as rapidly as the enrollment and consequent expenses."

Markovich added that just last year the board cut the maintenance tax rate by 10 cents; but it will be "impossible" for the district to function properly without the continued 60 cent levy, he said.

Members of the board are unanimous in their support of the issue, Markovich said.

"It simply is not possible to conduct a good school and pay decent salaries without the additional revenue," Hannah concluded.

Public Invited To Dedication Of New Westlake School February 3rd

Dedication of the new Westlake Elementary school will be held Sunday, February 3, H. Z. Weibel, school superintendent, announced today.

The ceremony, to which the public is cordially invited to attend, will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Entertainment will be furnished by the Jefferson elementary school district band, glee club, and Boy Scout and Girl Scout units.

Numerous officials and organizations have been invited to attend the dedication.

The complete program will be printed in The Record next week.

Hanrahan May Try For School Board

With the Jefferson elementary school board election slated for early in May, Claude Hanrahan, Broadmoor police commissioner, this week indicated he will be a candidate for the office of trustee.

He would oppose Mrs. Helen Cheatham, who has been a member of the board for the past two years, and is the only trustee up for reelection. She has not said whether or not she is interested in seeking reelection.

A two time looser, for the elementary and high school boards respectively, Hanrahan is nevertheless expected to be a strong contender for the trustee's post.

He could not be reached for comment today, although his friends assured The Record that he definitely will enter his name in the May election.

Mayor To Meet On Jitney Service

Wilson Reports Petition Needless

Scores of residents have offered to sign a petition to bring jitney service to Daly City. Del Wilson, local real estate man, and father of the plan, announced today.

He reports, however, that Mayor Paul Green has told him the petition is not necessary.

"I have agreed to arrange a meeting between the mayor and George Morrison, secretary of the jitney driver's union," Wilson said. "I expect they will work out some plan."

The date of this meeting has still to be set, although Wilson said it probably will be early next week.

Wilson reports the mayor and city council have generally approved the plan, but want to know more about it before giving it their final consent.

The jitneys, which now terminate at Geneva avenue, would continue their route to the foot of Mission street, at Market, in Daly City. Wilson believes these 8-passenger cars will speed up transportation from here to San Francisco.

March of Dimes

Mothers Join To Collect Dimes

Scores of volunteers are signing up to participate in the 1952 "March of Mothers" phase of the current "March of Dimes" campaign throughout Daly City next week, it was learned today.

An announcement made on behalf of T. J. Hallinan, director of the annual "March of Dimes" campaign in San Mateo county, said that "a majority of the Daly City PTA groups are taking part actively in support of this event." Hallinan hailed the help of "many mothers in our individual school Parent-Teachers groups" as most encouraging to "the assured success of the 'March of Mothers.'"

The volunteer mothers are planning to "march for dimes" and dollars next Thursday evening, January 31, between 7 and 8 o'clock, in a concentrated effort to "call on all homes where porch lights are lit for the occasion."

The announcement explained that "all persons desiring to contribute that evening to the 'March of Dimes' are asked to light thier porch lights, so indicating."

Women Call

"There is no solicitation in the 'March of Mothers,'" Hallinan's announcement added. "The women simply are to call on homes where the porch lights are on, pick up the gifts in an empty coffee can or Mason jar, and turn the money over to their PTA chairman who will mail a check made out to the 'March of Dimes' to our county headquarters."

He said the San Mateo county 17th District Council of the PTA, headed by Mrs. G. J. Sirex, of San Carlos, had gone on record favoring participation by all their member PTA groups in the "March of Mothers" January 31, and added that some 75 school PTA organizations "are cooperating splendidly."

The following memorandum explaining how each PTA group can organize for the "March of Mothers" blanketing the county January 31 was drawn up to aid them:

ARNESON TO GIVE

Doing his bit to help the March of Dimes in Daly City is Roy Arneson's Chevron Service, School and Mission streets.

He reports he will donate one dime out of every dollar he takes into the station Saturday, February 2, to the March of Dimes. This applies on anything sold, from gasoline to tires.

He hopes other business men will follow his lead.

Mayor Says Move Possible

was held on the proposed plan, some political observers asserted the people were opposed to such a proposition.

Meanwhile, the mayor reports the city is about to sign a $22,000 electrical contract for the Community building. This will partially complete the electrical system for the structure.

However, about $150,000 more is needed for a heating plant, equipment, and to refinish the interior and exterior of the building.

Earlier Rodriquez had pleaded not guilty.

New Fire Station For Westlake

Need for the building is pressing, as the present low fire insurance rate for Daly City may be raised, unless more adequate protection can be assured for the Westlake area, an official asserted today.

Daly City presently has a five man full time fire department which will be enlarged later this year. This outfit, along with the auxiliary department, is located only on the east side of Junipero Serra boulevard.

"There should be no doubt in anyone's mind that a new fire station is necessary," Councilman Fred Bertetta said today.

Plans call for a 72 by 79 foot building large enough to hold four engines, full quarters for the men, drill quarters, and a practice tower.

The design is being left up to Henry Doelger, in order that the building may fit in with the general architecture of the area.

County Politics

Dolwig And Dematteis Withdraw From New Congressional Nomination

County politics this week saw:

Richard J. Dolwig, San Mateo county assemblyman, announcing he "definitely will not be a candidate" for congress to represent the newly formed congressional district of San Mateo county.

Louis B. Dematteis, district attorney, eliminated himself as the Democrat's hopeful for the same position. He said, "I can't afford to be a congressman," adding he prefers to hold public office locally.

While Dolwig had been the "golden hope" of the Republican party, Dematteis held a similar position in the Democrat ring.

This leaves the field wide open.

The lone bidder for the Democratic nomination is a Jefferson High School teacher, Victor G. Binsacca.

The Republicans have six contenders for the nomination, including one woman, Mrs. Lucille Athearn of San Mateo.

Other Republican contenders include:

F. Herschel Campbell of San Mateo, a city councilman.

D. J. Creedon of San Mateo, present justice of the peace and former San Mateo mayor.

Henry F. Misselwitz of San Carlos, author, former newspaper man and wartime manager of the San Mateo chamber of commerce.

John A. Sullivan of Menlo Park, a practicing attorney.

James C. Whittaker of Burlingame, retired builder and former labor union official.

Great Books Discussion Group To Be Formed -- Members Needed

by Lorraine deFanti

How would you like to:

Improve your ability to read, speak, and listen?

Clarify your thinking?

Understand yourself and the world you live in?

Become a better citizen and a better person?

Enjoy yourself?

If you are interested in any of the answers to the above statements, may I suggest letting the great books of yesterday and today help you find the solution to these and hundreds of other fundamental personal, moral and social problems. Plans are now being formulated to start a great books discussion group in this community. As a matter of fact, Daly City is seriously being considered as the meeting center for a northern peninsula discussion group.

If a sufficient number of local residents participate in joining the group the success of this endeavor is practically assured. It's up to each and everyone of us to make the Great Books program a success. Won't you help? At least make some effort to find out what it is all about.

In future weeks The Record will assist me in attempting to describe the where, when, and how of the Great Books program we are planning, but for now—today—all interested parties are asked to call at the Daly City Public Library where information will be gladly given.

Education

Here is your chance to obtain a liberal education designed to liberate the mind of man from prejudice, partiality, and preoccupation with passing fancy. It is a general education, designed to enable men and women to act intelligently and independently in every phase of private and public life. It is a democratic education, within the power of every ordinarily intelligent person.

Reading the Great Books and more important discussing the ideas they contain provide a means of understanding human aims, motives and shortcomings. Such understanding cannot be poured over people. Nor can it be gotten from textbooks, newspapers, lectures or television. For the person who reads or sees or hears without having to think or defend his ideas is not acquiring understanding.

Understanding

Understanding is the product of asking questions and finding, not hearing the answers. The Great Books Discussion group is designed to help us find our own answers, and to promote individual reading and thinking. How long has it been since you have had the rewarding experience of being deeply possessed by worthwhile ideas? How long has it been since you have partaken in a mentally stimulating and interesting conversation?

If you grieve over the passing of the art of intelligent conversing, look into this Great Books program. It will cost you absolutely nothing to inquire, and depending upon the effort you are willing to put into it, the rewards you reap may be very great. Watch The Record for further details!

The lowest temperature ever recorded in San Francisco was 27 degrees f., the highest 101.

OUR SERVICEMEN

(This column brings you news of men in the armed service. In order that it may cover the activities of all Daly City area men, drop into The Record office, 3317 San Jose Ave., or call PLaza 5-4321.)

Pvt. Louis J. Chelassi, 21, of 344 Citrus, recently was awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for excellent performance of duty in combat with the 7th Infantry Division.

The badge, a symbol of the front line fighting man, distinguishes the combat soldier from rear area and service troops. It consists of a miniature replica of a Revolutionary War flintlock rifle mounted on a blue background and superimposed on a wreath.

Private Chelassi is serving as a rifleman in Headquarters and Headquarters Company's Intelligence and Reconnaissance Platoon, a part of the 17th Regiment. He entered the Army Feb. 20, 1951 and completed basic training at Camp Roberts. Since arriving in Korea on December 12, 1951, he has also been awarded the Korean Service Ribbon with one campaign star.

Chelassi attended Balboa high school.

Undergoing recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, San Diego, is John M. Farmar, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Farmar of 149 Templeton avenue.

Before entering the Navy, he worked for Retail Credit Co.

This initial training includes instruction in such fields as seamanship, fire-fighting, gunery, signaling, and other courses designed to make the recruit well-versed in every phase of Navy life.

Upon completion of their 11-week training period at the training center, graduates are assigned to duty stations with the Fleet or at Navy shore stations, or are sent to service schools for advanced technical training.

Serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Rochester with United Nations forces in the Korean area is Gerald R. Rehe, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert K. Rehe of 157 South Park View.

The Rochester has given good account of herself in the combat zone, inflicting heavy damage on enemy troop emplacements, buildings, suply routes and communication lines during her period of service in the Far East.

Cpl. Lloyd Sinclair, son of Tranberg Sinclair, 227 Miriam street, is now a student in the Pharmacy Procedures Course given at Medical Field Service School, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Enlisted personnel and officers from Armed Forces installations throughout the world come to this school for technical and professional training in military medical service.

Completion of this course qualifies graduates for duty assignment as technicians in military hospitals and medical units.

"Residents of Westlake can be assured that I will never allow Westlake to be commercialized to the extent of impairing the beautifully planned residential districts. Westlake is the realization of a dream and lifetime ambition . . . and I would never spoil that dream."

SAFE WALKING HABITS

You change from motorist to pedestrian as soon as you step from your car, the California State Automobile Association points out. When you park your car in the middle of the block, walk to the corner and cross the street at regularly-designated crosswalks. Crossing the street in the middle of the block is an invitation to disaster.

RUMORS OF COMMUNITY CENTER

One of our more critical readers took The Record to task this week for not giving the "complete" story on the Community Center Building.

She felt there was much to explain...much which was still to be made clear by the city council.

Her doubt was so strong that she, a staunch supporter of civic improvements, cast a "no" vote in the recent election to raise funds for completing the structure.

We believe her attitude is indicative of the general public's. It explains why the community center bond issue failed, and why any similar issue may go down to defeat.

The people do not understand why the original $295,000 was not enough to complete the building. Until this is made clear, they will continue to harbor doubt as to the wisdom of future bond issues.

There are many harsh rumors being circulated about the men responsible for the building. These range from charges of gross mismanagement of funds to general incompetence.

Our reader feels it is the duty of this paper to bring these rumors to light. We answer we would be glad to comply, but this newspaper, as any worth its type, is governed by the law of common decency. We have never, and never will print sheer rumors.

This is not to sidestep an issue. We do believe the men whose names are associated with the building should take it upon themselves to meet these rumors head on, to answer them once and for all.

For this purpose, we propose a special meeting of the city council previous to any more action on the building. At this meeting residents would be given the opportunity to exchange questions and answers, to get to the real facts.

The effectiveness of such a conclave was proven two weeks ago when Westlake residents asked the council for answers to pressing questions.

One thing is certain. No bond issue, no other means of raising funds for the community building can be put across until these rumors are stifled.

It is time the council woke up to this fact. A public meeting is in order.

We hope the woman who took us to task, and the hundreds like her, will see that such a meeting is called. Better still, we hope the council will do the "calling," will meet an unpleasant, but true situation.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS NOTED

The city council is to be congratulated this week for a much needed step in improving local streets.

As reported by City Administrator Dan Andersen, the city has launched a project to resurface and repair all local roadways. This is going to take some time, but at least it is past the talking stage.

Cost of the project will be borne by the state gas tax money alloted to the city. This is part of the tax you pay on every gallon of gasoline.

For the most part our streets are in relatively good shape, but there is certainly need for change in some routes, especially in the residential areas. Andersen assures us these improvements will be made.

And while we are on the subject of streets, the city might go a step further and invest a few more dollars for another street cleaner. Seems some of the Westlake residents never see the sweeper, as do many of the outlying Daly City districts.

Our streets are generally clean—with the notable exception of the "top of the hill"—but there is room for another sweeper here.

MEMBERS NEEDED FOR DISCUSSION GROUP

Any thinking resident will be glad to hear the Daly City library is planning to form a Great Books discussion group.

The Great Books program is the biggest "university" in the world. Beginning with The Bible, the program touches on books concerned with every crisis of human life. Every two weeks a discussion group meets to discuss one of these volumes.

Robert Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago, is largely responsible for the formation of the organization which now boasts membership throughout the world.

You are asked to join this fraternity of interested citizens. This can be done by enrolling in the Great Books program. It is no short cut to culture, but you will find discussions such as proposed by the program will enrich your life a hundred fold.

Just one thing is needed...enough members to form a discussion group. If you are interested, please contact the Daly City Library for further information.

We urge you to do this today, for no other reason than to discover the peace of mind within the great writings of the ages.

And don't feel bashful about joining this group. It is for every person, regardless of education, or social background. As a member of the discussion group you will be a common citizen drawing on the common wisdom of your fellows.

SIGNALS PROBLEM AND A BUTTON

The police still are having trouble with the signals at the "top of the hill."

Only this time the difficulty is not mechanical, it is human. Too many people forget the signals will not operate for pedestrians unless the little button on each pole is pressed. This clears the green light.

Officer Henry Sundermann reports he has more difficulty educating people to this fact than with the actual signal timing.

We think the residents who are having the most trouble might do well to remember no machine is perfected to the point where the human element does not enter. This is true of the signals.

The next time you are cursing the failure of the green light, take a look at the button. Have you pushed it?

A MILLION DOLLAR YEAR

This is going to be a big year for spending in Daly City, and it will require level thinking by the city council and the taxpayers.

Among the many projects planned are: a $50,000 to $60,000 fire house for Westlake; a $500,000 or more addition to the water system, and a sewage treatment plant, the cost of which has still to be ascertained.

It appears as if the city may go well over the one million dollar mark for needed improvements here.

On top of the necessary spending is the question of where the city is going to raise the additional $160,000 to complete the Community Center building.

Probably in no time in the 40 year history of Daly City has there been a more crying need for dollars. The difficulty is, where are these dollars coming from?

Fortunately, the ever increasing population and upped assessment values will bring additional revenue to the city coffers. But this will fall far short of the city's financial needs.

There is no easy solution to this problem.

We believe the people should face the facts. These projects are needed, regardless of who is sitting on the city council. Similar improvements will be required as the city continues to grow. This is going to mean just one thing—increased taxes through either bond issues or special levys.

It is going to take more than fast talking to overcome this hard, cold fact. What it does require is wise spending of the money we do have.

This is good reason for the taxpayers to take an active interest in their city government. What is a million dollar expenditure this year, will be more millions next year. All this money comes out of your pockets. See that it is spent to the best advantage.

TOO MUCH MONEY

It appears that California is again heading into surplus trouble, or, more precisely, trouble with a surplus.

In spite of her billion dollar budget, the income from sales taxes and other sources of revenue have the treasury coffers at Sacramento bulging again.

This being the case, we may look for renewed efforts at the approaching meeting of the Legislature to find bigger, but hardly better, ways of spending the taxpayers' money. It's going to take a lot of public pressure and strong resistance from the more level headed lawmakers to keep the would-be spenders from opening the flood gates.

If tax collections are greater than needed, let tax rates be cut back, temporarily at least. We can all use the money ourselves—to patch up our pockets.

17th DISTRICT C.C.P.T.

Meeting Scheduled To Discuss Pros & Cons Of Non-Profit Schools' Tax

A meeting to present the known facts about tax exemption for private non-profit schools is being sponsored by Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers on Thursday evening, January 31.

At 8:30 p.m. in Burlingame high school auditorium Mrs. G. J. Sirex of San Carlos, district president, will moderate the session.

Participation of all interested Peninsula citizens will be welcomed when representatives of two opposed groups are to answer questions from the audience. Opening statements by the speakers and a rebuttal period will be followed by the open forum.

Assembly Bill No. 3383 proposed by Laughlin Waters of Los Angeles, vice-chairman of the Republican state central committee, had been passed by the state legislature to grant tax exemption as indicated. A referendum of the measure, which qualified for the ballot at the coming November elections, is designed to defeat tax exemption.

Favoring the referendum and in opposition to tax exemption is the California Taxpayers Alliance. Larry Kiml of the San Francisco Alliance office has secured Alan Croft Blanchard of Mill Valley to outline the arguments for the referendum vote.

Opposing the referendum is the committee on "Justice in Education," whose campaign coordinator is Frank Sullivan of San Francisco. Robert I. McCarthy of San Francisco's twenty-fifth assembly district, has been selected to interpret the stand of this diversified organization. Mr. McCarthy is an attorney, and member of the state assembly that passed AB No. 3383.

San Mateo County's Population Has Increased 12% Since 1950 Census

Population of San Mateo county reached 264,690 at January 1, 1952, California Taxpayers' association estimated today, an increase of 12.3 per cent from the April, 1950, census.

The January 1, 1952, population estimate shows an increase of 29,031 people in the county over the 235,659 population found by the April, 1950 census.

It is also an increase over the 252,800 population estimate for the county for January 1, 1951—a 4.7 per cent increase.

From the 1940 to 1950 census, the population of the county increased from 111,782 April, 1940, to 235,659 for A 1950—an average annual inc of 7.7 per cent.

Increase

For California as a wh , popu on at January 1, 19 is estimated at 11,236,900, an i rease of 6.1 per cent from the April, 1950, census, the association said.

The January 1, 1952, population estimate for the state shows an increase of 650,677 people, over the 10,586,223 population shown by the April, 1950, census.

The 11,236,900 population for January 1, 1952, is higher than the 10,822,780 estimate for January 1, 1951, by 3.8 per cent.

From 1940 to 1950, the census shows an increase of 3,678,836 people in California, from the 6,907,387 for April, 1940, to the 10,586,223 for April, 1950—an average annual increase of 4.4 per cent.

Population Up

Fifteen counties in California have shown increases in population of 10 per cent or more in the twenty-one months since the 1950 census was taken, the association estimated. They include: Alpine, Amador, Del Norte, Humboldt, Mendocino, Mono, Napa, Orange, Sacramento, San Diego, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Sierra, and Trinity.

On the other hand, nine counties show decreases in population, the decreases ranging from 10.4 per cent for San Benito county to 0.2 per cent for Butte county. Other counties showing decreases include Calaveras, Imperial, Mariposa, San Francisco, Santa Cruz, Tehama, and Tulare.

Some of the decreases, the association said, result from decentralization of population, with adjoining counties showing relatively large increases.

Polio Cost Care Necessitates March Of Dimes

Chairman Calls For Added Support

The San Mateo County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis spent more than $26,000 to assist a total of 81 polio patients during 1951, it was revealed today by Henry F. Misselwitz, chapter executive director.

The terrific costs of care for unfortunate victims of polio were emphasized by figures in the 1951 financial report of the local county chapter, prepared at the direction of Claude J. Hirschey, treasurer, who said that "financial aid made possible through funds raised in the 'March of Dimes' a year ago underlined the need for a successful 1952 drive, now under way."

"The record of what has been done makes us all eager to continue, and to expand, this work as needed," Misselwitz said in releasing information on the chapter's financial report for the past year's expenses for direct aid to polio cases. "Unfortunately, even if we had no cases of polio in our county in the months ahead, their remains much to be done financially for patients stricken in 1951, and earlier."

Of the 81 cases getting direct cash aid on hospital and other bills in 1951, he explained that 38 were new cases while 43 were persons stricken before 1951, adding that "the toll of polio continues on into the next several years, once hit."

The treasurer's report showed that the 1951 "March of Dimes" drive raised $44,820.28 a year ago, of which 50 per cent was retained for local services and half sent to national headquarters for scientific research, as well as for aid to chapters.

During the past year, $8,050.00 was received in added financial help from the national organization by the San Mateo County Chapter, the report said. Misselwitz added that "there were unpaid bills totalling more than $12,500 at the end of 1951, which means the local chapter begins 1952 with that deficit prior to starting to pay current bills for polio victims in our county. We need help now."

Donations Asked For Rummage Sale

Eagles Auxiliary Needs Team Funds

The Eagle gals are at it again. You know what? The officers and escort team of Colma Vista Grande Auxiliary No. 1848 are going to compete in the ritualistic work at the state convention in San Jose sometime in May.

We would be one proud auxiliary, if we could bring that cup home to Daly City.

This all adds up to a point: in the near future we are having a rummage sale to raise money to send all the officers and teams to San Jose. If you have any usable or resaleable items, call Alberta Dubel at DE. 3-8731, and some one will come for anything you may have to give.

Furniture, clothes, book, jewelry, or just anything you have will do for the sale.

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

Shortly after we gave women the right to vote, we lost the spittoon.

Objective historians point out there may be no correlation between the phenomena. They observe the mass exodus of the cuspidor from the living room was no more than an effort to keep the old homestead clean. They assert the spittoon was an eye sore, and a health menace. These scholars freely admit they are happy to see the spittoon go. Their sentiments are generally voiced by the ladies.

But what are the real facts?

They are simple, within the grasp of anyone interested in exploring the social movement of the American home. The spittoon came into vogue about the time Americans began putting floors in their homes. Some observant fellow noted tobacco juice didn't soak through wood floors as fast as a hard mud floor. As these puddles were causing some trouble, especially when dancing, he struck upon the idea of a spittoon.

Success

His invention went over big. Before too long every home had one, except for those places where etiquette was unknown, but that didn't really matter as these peasants still had mud floors.

Like television, the spittoon was an instant although nerve racking success. Old timers had a hard time zeroing in on the small round tops of the cuspidors. Besides they preferred the freedom of the floors. The women put an end to this.

Competition

Where one lone fellow had been manufacturing the little earthenware pots, several hundred new plants soon sprung up. In the good old American custom, these manufacturers began to compete for the spittoon market. All types of the cuspidors went on the market, from large brass receptacles to little hand painted jobs for my lady who wanted to chew alone.

Just before the civil war we had thousands of Americans making spittoons. The trouble was people got so used to the metal ones, that the country almost had a crisis when the metal was channeled into the war effort. It got so bad they actually had a black market in brass spittoons. After all, no socially prominent woman wanted a simple, earthen spittoon sitting in her parlor. Then the president made a speech, several black marketeers were shot, and the crisis was past. The guns had won over spittoons.

Change

Things weren't quite the same after the civil war. Some wise fellow started all the trouble when, to meet the shortage of spittoons, he came up with cigarettes. This put a cramp in the tobacco plug business, and a good number of men decided they didn't need to spit anyway, a good loud shout would do just as well.

With the vogue over, the cuspidor planis shut down. Women began to move hubby's favorite bit of furniture out of the front room into the kitchen, then into the woodshed. This was by way of a challenge, and many a man fought down to his last plug to keep the cuspidor. He lost.

Today, no home has one of these lovely bits of adornment in the living room, or anyplace else. As a matter of fact, even the public buildings are slowly moving them out. Politicians, always slow to catch on, have decided they can win more votes by blowing smoke rings than spitting 20 feet across the speaker's platform.

The real tragedy is the loss of man's dignity. A man with a jaw full of old cut was a man, not a nervous, ulcer ridden chain smoker. A man that took the time to spit, to hit the cuspidor dead center, had the time to think, to converse.

Yes, man's dignity, man's control of women, went out with the spittoon.

School Program Shown On TV Each Tuesday

A new public schools television education program under the auspices of the Bay Area Public Schools Television Council opened Tuesday, January 22.

James R. Tormey, county superintendent of schools, announced that the program, "Partners in Progress," will appear each Tuesday on station KPIX from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

The new program is sponsored by the county office and several school districts in the nine Bay Area counties. The new program has a three-fold purpose: showing how students learn about business, commerce, and industry; demonstrating the interrelation between business and education; and portraying the contributions made by education and industry toward the growth and development of California.

New Program

The new program takes its place with "Operation Education" also sponsored by the Bay Area Council and apeapring Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings at 10:45 on KRON-TV, Tormey said.

Two January programs of Operation Education will be produced by one of the San Mateo county school districts. The January 25 program, "Increasing Independence," and the January 28 program, "School Housing," will be presented by the San Carlos elementary schools.

KATHLEEN NORRIS
It Won't Work

"WHEN our daughter Eileen was two years old we adopted another child," writes John Young, from Kansas City. "Florelle was then 10, the child of a very poor family who had acted as nurse and sitter for our baby, and of whom we had grown very fond. When my business moved from Albany to Kansas we could not part with her, and took legal steps to make her our own. As younger children came along, this affectionate big sister was a Godsend; we now have another daughter, now 4, and a boy of 2.

Kissless Wife

My wife is a reserved woman, not demonstrative. I think she has never kissed me of her own accord, in all our married years. She manages the children superbly, and is economical, capable and active in social affairs. But she regards emotional demonstrations of affection as rather distasteful. Eileen, now 10, is also a cool and unresponsive child, though brilliant and pretty.

"My trouble is Florelle, my adopted daughter. She is radically different. She is now nearly 18, although to me she still seems the gipsy child we found ten years ago. She rushes to meet me at night with laughter and a kiss; if there is disturbing news it is Florelle who says 'Oh, don't tell him, Mother, until he's had his supper!'

". . . goodnight kiss . . ."

"In everything I come first with this devoted little heart. At night she never leaves the room without stopping behind my chair to press her cheek against my hair with a goodnight kiss. Any plan means her quick, 'Is Daddy going? I'll stay with Daddy.'

"Of course I like it. I am a loving sort of fellow, and I had a mother who kissed me goodnight and good morning until I was big enough to go away to war. But I've just come to realize what perhaps you have suspected all along, that Florelle means a great deal to me, and that I mean a lot more to her than I ever meant to.

"When I saw this first I spoke to Edna, my wife, about it. She laughed at the whole thing; it was just my vanity. Florelle, she reminded me, has some Latin blood in her veins, and dramatizes everything romantic. Anyway, she could not possibly get along without Florelle's help with the children, so please to forget the whole thing and not be a fool! Later, when a casual remark of mine so hurt Florelle who thought I was scolding her, that she rushed from the room, and was actually ill for a whole day, Edna grudgingly admitted that she might 'have a crush' on me, but observed that the only thing to do was to let it run its course. 'She'll take a fancy to some butcher boy or marine or someone,' she said. And she said again that she could not spare Florelle. What the dickens is a man to do when dynamite like this is right in his own home, and his own wife, who ought to be the first to see it, deliberately shuts her eyes?"

The Reason Why

My dear John, I say in answer, Edna is weighing the invaluable assistance she gets from this daughter-nurse against the overwhelming struggle one woman has with three children of assorted ages, a kitchen, a laundry, marketing, cleaning, cooking. She, being unromantic, feels that Florelle might as well cut her teeth on a first love affair with a sobersided old fellow like John, and that it will all be over soon, and the housework going on undisturbed.

But there are elements here that are dynamite indeed, and it is your immediate business to move Florelle to some family group or preparatory school of business that will launch her into a life of her own.

Obviously, your wife is a practical person, who expects you to be as detached as herself in your devotion to home, family, business, and the future.

But your 44 years and gray temples are anything but a safeguard against wreckage. Wreckage like throwing over all those advantages mentioned above; wife, home, children, position in business.

There was another doctor once, in England, who felt sorry for a pretty impressionable maid-servant, and pity turned to love, and love turned to trouble, and presently the pretty maid-servant was found in her bed, with an unsuccessful attempt at a fire in her bedroom. The fire went out; the police knew that she had been strangled before it had been lighted. And the doctor went out, too, also strangled.

So stop while there's time. Send your lovely Florelle away, and thank the gods for what you have—it's a lot.

VFW Post 9921 Will Observe National VFW Week January 24-31

All over the United States, the week of January 24 to 31 will be observed as National VFW Week, honoring the Veterans of Foreign Wars, an organization of servicemen who have served on foreign soil in wartime to keep American enemys far from our shores.

Post No. 9921 of Colma, will take part in this national observance, and the citizens of this area are cordially invited to inform themselves during National VFW Week as to what the organization of veterans has done, and continues to do, on behalf of disabled and needy veterans and their families, as well as for the general community. Ask any man you meet who is wearing the Cross of Malta, and he will be glad to explain why he has it.

The VFW, claiming more than 1,200,000 members in 10,000 Posts, regards its special week as the opening gun of a 1952 campaign to expand the organization's public service activities.

Plans

Plans for the week have been approved by VFW Commander-in-Chief Frank C. Hilton.

As explained by Commander Hilton in a message to Lake Merced Post 9921, "the men who have fought foreign enemies of democracy now are campaigning against new threats to our American way of life at home and aboard. It is high time that we take more active steps toward strengthening ourselves. That means in our relationships with one another, also through providing greater opportunities for our youngsters and needy adults."

That is the course of action toward which the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary direct their efforts constantly and that is the underlying purpose of National VFW Week, January 24-31."

Teen-Age Tennis Instruction Offered Soon

Classes For 18 And Under

Tennis instruction, for boys and girls under 18 years of age, will be given at seventeen of the San Francisco city playgrounds during February, it was announced today by Bud DeMeyer, supervisor of athletics, for the San Francisco Recreation and Park Department.

Purpose of the course is to teach fundamentals of the game and playing technique to beginners and to help others improve their game in preparation for a scheduled city-wide playground tournament in April.

Rackets and tennis balls will be furnished by the department. However, DeMeyer suggested that each boy or girl bring their own equipment if they have it. It is usually better to learn to play with your own racket so you get accustomed to it, he pointed out.

Tennis courts at the following playground and recreation centers have been designated as tennis schools for the month of February:

FUNSTON, Chestnut and Buchanan streets; NORTH BEACH, Lombard and Mason streets; ST. MARY'S, Crescent and Agnon avenues; MISSION 19th and Linden streets; GLEN PARK, Chenery and Elk streets; MERCED HEIGHTS, Byxbee and Shields streets; CHINESE PLAYGROUND, Sacramento and Stockton streets; CHINESE RECREATION CENTER, Washington and Mason streets; PORTOLA, Felton and Holyoke streets; CABRILLO, 38th Avenue near Cabrillo; RICHMOND, 18th avenue between Lake and California streets; ROCHAMBEAU, 24th avenue between Lake and California streets; ANGELO J. ROSSI, Arguello boulevard and Edward street; SUNSET, 28th avenue and Lawton street; POTRERO HILL, 22nd and Arkansas streets; BAY VIEW, Third and Armstrong streets; MARGARET S. HAYWARD, (Girls), Golden Gate avenue and Laguna street.

Classes will be designated according to age groups for those 11 years and under, thirteen years and under, 15 years and under and 18 years and under.

Following completion of the series of lessons, each age group will have playground tournaments during March, and winners will play for the city playground championship in April. Winners of the city championship will then participate in a State championship tennis tournament.

For additional information see your local playground director or telephone SKyline 1-4866, ask for Bud DeMeyer or Joe Misuraca, athletic supervisor for the Recreation and Park Department.

Game Violators Have Record Month

921 Cited In Nov. For Code Violations

The greatest number of arrests during any month of their 74-year history was recorded in November by wardens of the California Department of Fish and Game.

A total of 921 Californians were cited for various offenses in violation of the State Fish and Game Code. They paid $31,996 in fines and were sentenced to an aggregate of 520 days in jail. Commercial fish valued at $2,131 was confiscated.

Judges throughout the State assessed an average fine of $37.50 for each violation. In all cases, the disputed fish and game was seized, and in many cases, the firearm or fishing gear was confiscated as part of the sentence.

Records

Nine hunting licenses, one angling license, two pheasant tags and sixteen deer tags were revoked by the courts.

The previous monthly record was set in October, 1948, when 787 arrests were made. In November, 1950, the monthly tally was 627, and in 1949, 733 arrests.

Waterfowl hunting violations accounted for the greatest number of cases during November, with 216 errant sportsmen apprehended. Two hundred hunters were arrested for violation of a new law prohibiting the possession of loaded guns in autos.

Former Division Executive Officer E. L. Macaulay, who recently returned to his old job as chief of patrol, asserted that the monthly record "does not mean we're out to make as many arrests as we can. We'd much rather announce a record of no arrests. The smaller the number of anglers and hunters in trouble, the better hunting and fishing will be for all."

FUR-BEARING MAMMALS

Ends February 28. Fur-bearing mammals may be taken only with a tray, firearm or the use of dogs. No open season on fishers and wolverines. Traping license required for persons over 18 years of age.

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

Jet Power Proves Too Much Friday For Shorter, Slow Moving Rockets

The Jefferson school district basketball league got underway on January 18 with games played between the Colma Rockets and the Colma Jets.

The B game was won by the Jets 20 to 2. Long, Jet center, proved too much for the shorter Rocket players who tried desperately to guard him, but to no avail, as Long controlled both backboards and led his team in scoring with 8 points.

Rasmussen, Jet guard, followed with 6 points, and Hendon contributed two field goals for four points. Fairchild added two points to the Jets total of 20.

The Rockets only score of the game came in the third period when forward Klinger managed to find an opening in the Jets defense, and he arched the ball through the hoop for two points.

Both teams played ragged ball and will have to work hard on fundamentals to brush up on their game.

The "A" Game

The "A" game played between the Rockets and the Jets was won by the Jets by a score of 22 to 17.

The contest was close all the way with both teams playing a slow deliberate type of offense.

Darrell Hutchinson, Rocket forward, led the scoring for both teams with 11 points, followed by Jerry Gruenwald, Jet center, who potted five field goals for 10 points. The other point makers for the Rockets were, H. Stevenson 5, A. Ruelas 4, and J. Lucia 2. For the Jets, R. Cryer 1, Lippert 2, B. Grubb 2, and D. Hall 2.

With the first game out of their systems both teams will have to brush up on fundamentals, particularly dribbling and defense, if they hope to win the remaining games on their schedules.

Final Exams Herald Basketball

San Mateo Junior College basketball players lead the Big Seven Conference with four straight wins and no losses. San Mateo's latest victory was a sweeping win over Sacramento jaysee on the Sacramento court.

This Friday evening Coach Ray Balsley's five will play a non-conference rival, Menlo College, with the game set for eight o'clock on the San Mateo gym floor. Menlo is rated as one of San Mateo's toughest opponents of the season as the Menlo Oaks have a fine record and have already beaten San Mateo in a game that went into overtime.

San Mateo's next conference game will be played Wednesday, January 30, when the Santa Rosa jaysee squad comes to San Mateo. February 1 San Mateo plays the number two team of the present conference standings, San Francisco.

Final examinations have started at the college indicating that the Fall term is practically over. The registration of rthe Spring term and for the college adult center spring semester will be February 4. The adult center office reports that it will be offering its largest schedule for men and women, giving the adults a wide choice.

Present plans are for the students to close their Fall term activities with a dance honoring the high sophomores who will be closing two years in junior college.

Monday evening programs offered free of charge at the college include: January 28, an illustrated lecture on Greenland; February 4, the UNESCO forum on India, and February 11, beautiful movies of autumn in New England.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Charlotte Ford Is Acclaimed Valentine Of Court St. Mary

After last Thursday evening's meeting of Court St. Mary Catholic Daughters of America, Mrs. Charlotte Ford was given a surprise birthday party and the Court took her as their valentine.

Mrs. Ford will be remembered by her many friends in the Catholic Daughters of America as having named the Court when it was instituted over 21 years ago. Mrs. Ford, a resident of Daly City for 45 years, has seen this community grow from a few residents to a rapidly growing suburb of over 17,000 people.

Table decorations were carried out in the Valentine decour, with a huge heart in the center of the main table, and an attractive two tiered artificial cake filled with colorful wrapped presents for Mrs. Ford.

Fushia blossoms strewn down the center of the tables and small satin sachet favors at each sitting, done in American Beauty coloring lent a colorful touch to the party.

After refreshments guests once more congratulated Mrs. Ford and wished her many more birthdays to come.

Chairmen of the evening were: Mrs. Arthur Heyden, chairman, with Mrs. Christine Michaelson as co-chairman; Mesdames George Rode, G. W. Ryan, William Drury, May Baker and J. Core.

Print Display Now At Library

Print Makers Society Noted

On display this week at the Daly City Public Libary is a special exhibit of etchings created by active artist members of the Print Makers Society of California.

This non profit group was organized in 1914 as an international unit designed for educational purposes. Its members aim at furthering print appreciation and benefiting the graphic arts and artists. Active members of the Print Makers Society supply prints, such as those which are at the library this week, and these drawings are circulated to museums, art galleries, etc., by traveling exhibits throughout the west and middle west.

The prints are for sale, priced by the artists. Associate members of the Society aid to a great extent to its maintenance, and through their membership they are enabled to add to or begin their own collections for far less than these prints would cost on the regular market.

Artists become active members by invitation, and only after their work has been passed upon by the Board of Control. Print makers interested in becoming affiliated with the Society are invited to write for definite information to the secretary at the following address:

The Print Makers Society of California

88 East Peoria street

Pasadena 3, California

The special exhibit, which was loaned to the Daly City Public Library through the courtesy of Clara Dills, county librarian, will remain for a limited period, so all residents interested are encouraged to come to the library and look at it.

Freeway Development Set

Rounding out plans for early struction of the southern end the multi-lane Eastshore Free-y being developed between kland and San Jose, the Calinia Highway Commission, meet-in San Diego, this week adopt-a route which will connect the ure freeway with State Sign ute 9, near Warm Springs.
The Commission's action follows sely upon a recent announce-nt by its chairman, Director of blic Works Frank B. Durkee, in ich he awarded a $1,260,449 ontract for construction of another section of the proposed reeway covering the one and hree-quarters miles between yte Creek and Trimble Road in nta Clara county.
The new routing starts from State Sign Route 9 just north of its present junction with Sign oute 17 at Warm Springs, and runs southeast, joining the proposed Eastshore Freeway near Railroad avenue.

Budget Provision

Durkee pointed out that budget and engineering provisions have been made through June 30, 1953, for construction of the Eastshore Freeway for aproximately nine miles northward from its junction with the present Bayshore Highway (U. S. 101 Bypass) at San Jose. One of the budgeted items includes funds for construction of the Commission's most recent adoption connecting State Sign Route 9 and the freeway. When the projects included in the whole nine-mile section have been completed, it will provide immediate benefit, pending completion of the entire Eastshore Freeway, by relieving congestion between the Warm Springs "Y" and San Jose. Concurrently, construction is proceeding on the northerly portion of the Eastshore Freeway between Hayward and Oakland.

Traffic counts at the junction of Sign Routes 9 and 17 at Warm Springs have exceeded 23,000 vehicles on Sundays.

Section

The one and three-quarter mile section on which the contract already has been awarded starts at Brokaw Road and Schallenberger avenue, and extends to just north of Trimble Road. It will consist of two parallel two-lane roadways, separated by a 40-foot median strip with provision for eventual future addition of a third traffic lane in each direction. The project includes construction of a bridge over Coyote Creek consisting of two parallel reinforced concrete structures, and an overcrossing and ramps at Trimble Road. Necessary road connections and frontage roads are included.

Construction of the remaining one-mile section between the Bayshore Freeway and Brokaw Road-Schallenberger avenue and the six and a half miles between Trimble Road and Warm Springs are provided for in the 1952-5-budget, including the proposed conection to Sign Route 9.

Two Years

This two-year program for the southern portion of the Eastshore Freeway involves an estimated expenditure for construction purposes alone of aprpoximately $4,-500,000, Durkee said.

Interim plans call for termination of the Eastshore Freeway at the present Bayshore Highway in notrh San Jose. However, highway engineers stress that final planning will entail extending the Eastshore Freeway southward and eventual construction of an adequate traffic interchange where it joins the future location of the Bayshore Freeway near Gish Road.

WINTER DRIVING

Highway Department Outlines Plan For Safe Snow Driving

The motorist who doesn't be-ve in signs is inviting trouble hen he heads his car into Calirnia snow country.
The State Division of Highways
s a special "sign language" for e 4,000 miles of State-mainined highway on which snow and e are a constant or a recurring zard every winter, and most of the signs move up and down the mountain slopes along with the snowline.

There is sound basis in State law, experience and common sense behind these signs which tell the motorist where to put on chains and where to park while doing so.

Reaching suitable winter sports areas often requires driving over miles of icy mountain road. This means the use of skid chains.

Warning

The first specific warning a motorist will encounter in snow country is a rectangular sign with reflectorized black letters on a yellow background reading "CHAINS REQUIRED 1 MILE AHEAD."

The Division of Highways tries, whenever possible, to place these signs near roadside developments such as garages or service stations where chains either can be rented or the motor vehicle driver can put on his own and not have to park on the travelled way to do so.

Farther along, at the actual chain-control point, there is a sign reading "STOP — VEHICLES WITHOUT CHAINS ON REAR WHEELS PROHIBITED." This rectangular sign is of reflectorized porcelain enamel with a white STOP on a red background. The remaining letters are black on white.

This sign (following the former wording of the statute in the Vehicle Code) used to read simply "VEHICLES WITHOUT CHAINS PROHIBITED." However, this had to be changed when wiseacres, after being accosted, would exhibit chains neatly stored away under the seats of their cars and claim compliance with the law on the grounds that it mentioned nothing about having the chains actually on the wheels of the car.

No Joke

Highway maintenance men and officers of the California Highway Patrol who have seen fatal smash-ups caused by failure to use chains along ice-covered pavements have been understangingly slow to see the humor in this attempt to evade the spirit of the law. To avoid trouble, however, the law, and consequently the signs, were made more specific by adding three words: "ON REAR WHEELS."

Quite frequently, the Division posts a black-on-yellow reflectorized sign reading "CHAINS ADVISEABLE." Highway engineers point out that this sign is a warning to all drivers not thoroughly familiar with snow conditions. If you're a newcomer to the snow areas better play it safe and put on your chains, even though the only law behind the "adviseable" sign is the unwritten law of self-preservation.

Other Signs

Motorists entering snow sports areas will come across locations where the snow has been removed from the shoulder of the road for a sufficient distance to permit parking. The spots are identified by rectangular black-on-white signs reading "PARK OFF PAVEMENT."

In places where the narrowness of the road makes it impossible to park clear of the pavement, the Division of Highways places red-on-white "NO PARKING" or "NO PARKING AT ANY TIME" signs, usually with an arrow underneath the letters to indicate the limit of the NO PARKING section.

Cars left parked, unattended and locked on the traveled way cause some of the biggest headaches which plague highway workers—and other motorists. They not only create a hazard but often make it impossible for other traffic, particularly the all-important snow-blow, to get through. During the recent pre-New Year's storm, a few thoughtless motorists who parked and locked their cars on the pavement on US Highway 40 bottled up hundreds of other vehicles for long periods and actually were responsible for closing the route for 36 hours.

Where large spaces at the side of the road have been leveled and cleared for parking, the Division of Highways places portable black-on-white signs stating "BEGINNING OF PARKING AREA" and "END OF PARKING AREA."

When leaving the chain control areas motorists are notified by a black-on-yellow sign reading "END OF CHAIN CONTROL." This means that chains can be removed. This sign is posted at the first safe location below the danger area so that the motorist will not have to drive for any great distance over dry pavement with the resulting wear on both chains and tires.

Routes not kept open during the winter months are marked at control intersections or other advance points by rectangular black-on-white signs stating that the route or pass is closed by snow beyond a certain point.

For example, a driver heading east along State Sign Route 108 will encounter signs reading "SONORA PASS CLOSED BY SNOW BEYOND PINECREST." The word PINECREST may be on a detachable plate, so that it can be replaced by the name of some other point as snow conditions change.

California's experienced snow-removal crews and the California Highway Patrol are unanimous in one thing: When it comes to driving through ice and snow, warning signs are a motorist's best friend. Treat them with respect. Take what they say seriously. It could add years to your life.

BATTERIES WILL FREEZE

It may be both interesting and valuable to you to know that a fully charged battery will not freeze until the temperature reaches ninety below zero while one that is half charged will start to freeze at sixteen below, according to the National Automobile Club. A discharged battery will freeze at a temperature only slightly lower than that at which water will freeze.

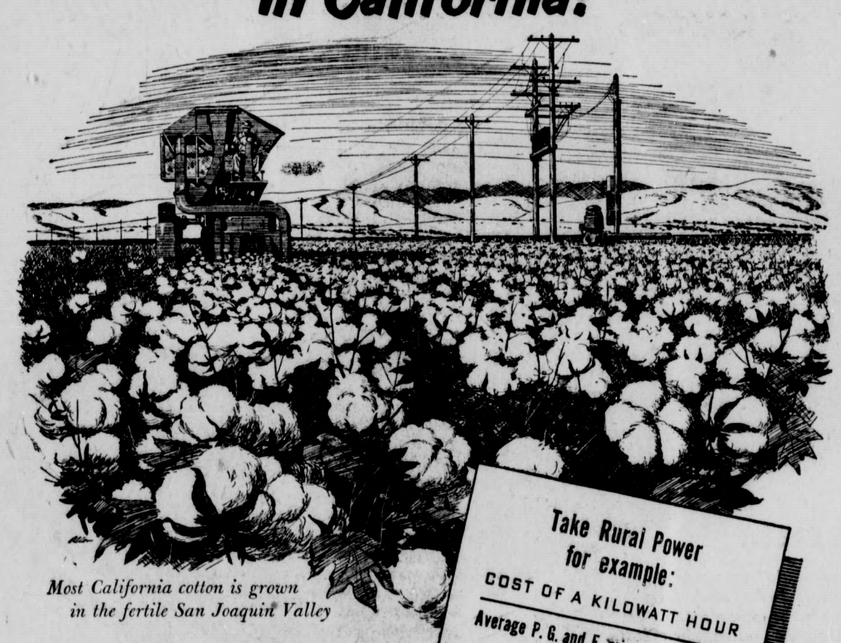
Gas and electricity are cheap in California!



Most California cotton is grown in the fertile San Joaquin Valley

Low-cost power helps grow California's fabulous cotton

Cotton is California's most valuable crop. This season it will bring over $400 million to farmers of the state. Everyone benefits, for at least 40% of the business in all California cities is based on agriculture. One reason for the state's great agricultural prosperity is abundant power for pumping irrigation water, at rates so low that P. G. and E. electricity is only 3½% of the average crop production cost.

Take Rural Power for example:
COST OF A KILOWATT HOUR
Average P. G. and E. price .... 1.54¢
Average price in rest of U. S. ... 2.48¢
P. G. and E. rates for rural areas, as well as for city homes, are far below the U. S. average.

Four "Good Time" Boys Face Fines

Varying fines and sentences were meted out today, January 24, to four San Francisco youths who "forgot to pay for their dinner" at the Colonial Drive-Inn January 14.

Judge Thomas Bocci heard each of the four plead guilty to having ordered dinner at the Junipero Serra boulevard drive-in, then, when the waiter was not looking, take off in their automobiles.

The speeding automobile, the tray of dishes still attached, hit off towards Broadmoor. Chief Paul Schmidt followed a trail of dishes and spoons to capture the men who asserted they "were out for a good time."

The drive-in management figured their loss in crockery and the price of four meals at $79.

Judge Bocci meted out the following fines: Harry Henderson, 20, was turned over to probation officers; Edward Murphy, 20, was given five days in the county jail; Milton Fabinsen, 31, was fined $100; James Sheenan, 19, was ordered to report to Chief Schmidt until he enters the navy sometime next month.

CHECK BRAKE FLUID

The modern hydraulic brakes on you car are the best in the world, but when they fail you're in trouble. The California State Automobile Association says you can help prevent brake failure by having the brake fluid checked regularly, every time you have the car lubricated.

TWO FLATS AT TIMES

One flat tire is bad enough, points out the National Automobile Club. Two are almost more than the most patient motorist can stand. Yet two flats at one time are not uncommon. In addition to the one on the wheel, many motorists find that the spare also is flat as a result of not having been checked up when the other tires were being inflated. The spare should be inflated every time the other tires get attention.

PAL Basketball

Redwood Cherokees Rally In Final Quarter To Beat Jefferson

By RAY SCHMITKE

An undefeated league standing was erased from the PAL record books as the Jefferson Indians dropped their first league game in three tries. The Sequoia high school five from down Redwood City way were the victors in this 46 to 60 tilt played on the Jefferson hardwoods last Tuesday.

Fourth Quarter Serge

The first three frames of the Cherookee-Indian duel found it a nip and tuck battle all the way At the end of the first quarter it was a 10 to 11 ball game with Sequoia at the helm. Then the famed Don Delbon expoited his well-known jump shot plus a lay in hook and a set shot that presented a performance that had even the foe gasping for breath. This sleepy eyed youth and a well-working foursome behind him caused the score to revise sides at the sounding of the half time buzzer. It was now Jeff cagers 25, Sequoia 21.

After the midway mark chalk talks, both squads resumed their gruelling struggle in the third portion of play. Frank Rodriquez made the opening two baskets that tied the game at that point. From there on in the give and take battle continued. Center Rich Bergstresser was the big gun for Jefferson in that frame when the Indians work entirely off the center post. At the end of the third quarter Sequoia led by one point, 39 to 40.

Then, as the fourth and final quarter presented itself, the once close game turned itself into a spirited and hard played rally for the Redwood men. The most sparkling performance of the day came from Ron Fitzgerald, Cherookee guard. Ron scored 10 times on the free throw line out of 12 attempts. Combine that with two field goals and you have a 14 point tally that spells trouble in any man's basketball. Teamed with Frank Rodriguez, Sequoia's star forward, who was good for 12 points in the last half, and a rough and tough center like Amaya, it made a more than a happy sight for an coaches dreams.

Forced Out

Don Wilson and Dick Moquin both first stringers from the Indians bench and both hard fighting guards were forced out of the contest in the last quarter of play by accumulating five fouls apiece. Both committed their final foul on Ron.

Playing a close man to man defense throughout most of the game the Indians put up a strong and exciting tilt against the enemy. The first five that started opposite the Sequoia tribe were Larry Blanchard and Don Delbon at forwards — Richard Bergstresser at center—Don Wilson and Angelo Calorio at guards.

Local Lightweights

The preliminary game between the Sequoia 30's and the Jefferson lightweights was somewhat of a dumping. From the opening whistle the Redwood City lads had the Daly City troop measured up and filed away under "games won." The sturdy Cherookees took the 26 to 48 victory in stride.

The game on a whole from the Jefferson High point of view was all firing and no hitting. The Indians had the opportunity to score time and time again but the ball contacted the net on to few occasions. Sequoia center Taylor with his 12 point mark was high tally man of the clash. The Cherookee team took an early lead in the first quarter when the team of Taylor and Jacobs started an early rally. The score stood 4 to 10 at the end of the first frame, increased to 16 to 22 as the first half ended, and picked right up in the third quarter when 18 points was added to make the score board read 22 to 40. The second stringers put the finishing touches on the meeting by ending it all with a 26 to 48 thirty mark.

This was the third straight league game the Jefferson Indian men failed to win in their three league starts. The first string that's always, in there pitching, however, are Rose and Bollinger at forwards—Rosa at center—Babkirk and Coffman at guards.

League Meeting

On the Jefferson shining floor the 2-1 Varsity and the 0-3 thirties will tangle the raging San Mateo Bearcats at 7:30 sharp tonight (January 25). The following league game will be against Menlo-Atherton and that meeting will take place at 3 p.m. Tuesday at Jefferson.

Four Traffic Checks Net Only One Drunk Driver

Police To Continue Safety Campaign

Daly City streets are fairly free of drunken drivers, at least during periodic traffic checks held here over the past months.

Officer Henry Sundermann, who has managed the safety campaign, reports of 2,256 cars stopped only one arrest was made for drunken driving. He notes, however, that nine warnings were issued for border cases.

Improper registration accounted for the majority of warnings and citations. There were 87 warnings issued for this offense and 20 citations.

The four blockades, held from September to December, were on Mission street between Alp and East Vista and on Hillside boulevard at East Vista.

"When weather permits we will hold more of these safety checks," Sundermann said.

He noted the program is primarily to aid drivers in correcting defects, and is not meant as a "police trap" to bring in traffic tags.

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

"Mother?" said Malcolm in his most serious tone of voice and a furrowed brow, "Could I catch Romantic fever?"

"Romantic fever?" I laughed. "Well, I guess you will some day, but not just yet. Look, can you wait until I finish frying this chicken? Go play with your cowboys and Indians."

"But Mother," he prodded, parrying a swipe from the spoon in my hand, "Richard Moran had it and it got in his joints and everything, and that isn't having it someday!"

"Oh Malcolm, you mean Rheumatic fever, and that isn't contagious! Now please, please watch out for this grease. . . " There was a pop and a splutter from the frying pan and a loud yelp of pain from Malcolm.

"Why did you have to burn me?" he sobbed.

Not Burned

"I didn't burn you!" I shouted in near hysteria, "I told you and told you to wait until I finished, but you just keep pestering." Come on now and let's find the ungentine for that arm."

We found the ungentine, and I found that the conversation was not ended. Malcolm, once on my lap in the living room, graciously forgave me for the burn on his arm and got back to the business at hand.

"What's contagious, Mother?" he queried sweetly.

"Well," I started off confidently, "It means its catching—like you caught the Measles. Remember when you had the Measles?"

"Chickenpox," he contradicted. "And you put that smelly stuff all over me so I wouldn't itch. And I was a real good boy and didn't scratch. I never had Measles, Barbara had Measles!"

The Spirit

"You had them too!" I answered firmly, getting into the spirit of the day. "When you were only a little fellow. After all, I should know, I had to take care of you and call the doctor and everything."

"You mean two hundred years ago, about, when I was a little fellow?" he beamed. "When I had such a hard head and gave you a black eye?"

"That's right. When you were two years old you had the Measles."

"And I was just jumping around and acting silly and," the beam on Malcolm's face was getting braoder by the minute, "then wham!"

"That's right!" I answered, feeling the excitement tense his stomach muscles. "Now look, if you're going to jump around you can get off my lap. Take it easy!" But it was too late.

"Did I jump around like this when I was just a little fellow, Mother?" and wham, his head came back to meet my frontal bones with a crack that showed me stars.

Retake

That night, under a poultice and over a cup of coffee, I was telling of the incident. The children were busy—I thought—watching television and my husband looked in need of an explanation. All was well until I started off with those fatal words "Romantic fever"—whereupon Malcolm took over.

"But Daddy," he said with that same, fatal seriousness he had used with me earlier, "Could I really catch Romantic fever, like Richard Moran did?"

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed my husband, little realizing the pitfalls ahead of him, "I don't think you'll catch it right away. Someday you will, but why don't you watch TV now and let me talk to Mommie?"

"But," Malcolm warmed up——

I quietly picked up my book and departed for upstairs. There are some conversations it is better not to repeat, especially when they have such colorful repercussions as my black eye.
